PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

& CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

I think we should take time to look at our NCNA membership. When we look at the number of coin collector and local clubs in this state, we wonder why our membership is not greater. Why is this? I believe the reason is that we as members are not really excited about our organization. We can boost our membership by asking a friend who is a collector or even better ask a fellow member in your local coin club to join the NCNA. Our organization can only be as great as the members who support it. So lets all work together to recruit a new member. Another priority is our junior membership. For the last few years there has been little or no competition for your Y. N. Scholarship, the Jimmy Jackson or the Bason Literary Awards. To have competition for these awards we need to recruit more young members. We also need to retain the junior members we have. We can hold their interest by having programs at our clubs where they can participate and have fun and the same time gain knowledge in the world of coins.

Let's try to keep our club meeting exciting and interesting where all members, young and old, want to bring new members into the field of numismatics. Hopefully, working together as a team we can accomplish ;this goal.

Remember, the NCNA is your organization and we need your help!

Charles Kimber, President

To match the inauguration medal of George Bush used four years ago we now bring you the official inauguration medal of President William Clinton.

We all know that the coin trade can be a cut-throat business. After his recent surgery to replace his carotid arteries, Ted Hendrick now has the scars to prove. Ted is recovering nicely.

COIN TRIVIA QUIZ ANSWERS?

by Halbert Carmichael

The winter issue of the NCNA Journal contained a numismatic trivia quiz with the rash promise to publish answers in the Spring issue. Well here goes.

1. How many US presidents have appeared on coins of the United States? I get twelve: Lincoln, Jefferson, F. D. Roosevelt, Washington, Kennedy, and Eisenhower on circulating coinage. Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Grant, McKinley, Coolidge(figure out where he comes in) on commemoratives.

2. How many presidents have appeared on the coins of other countries? Two that I know of: Roosevelt on the Philippine half-dollar and Kennedy on a coin of Sharjah.

3. Other persons on US coinage. The Red Book shows thirty-four on twenty-eight different coins. Ben Franklin and Susan B. Anthony on regular coinage and Lafeyette, Queen Isabella, W. W. Bibb, T. E. Kilby, Gov. Dongan, Peter Schuyler, Robert Livingston, Gen. George McClellan, Gen. R. E. Lee, Daniel Boone, Chief Black Fish, P. T. Barnum, Stephen Foster, Moses Cleaveland, Christopher Columbus, James Cook, Adm. Coligny, William the Silent, Carter Glass, Cecil Calvert, John Pell, Gov. Bradford, Roger Williams, Walter Raleigh, Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, Gen. Stonewall Jackson, Dr. John McLaughlin, Ira Allen, Booker T. Washington, George Washington Carver, Meriwether Lewis, and William Clark. At least five of these never set foot on North America and one plotted actively to have his state join Canada. Two got onto two different designs.

4. How many different denominations has the US Mint struck? seventeen: half-cent, cent, two cent, three cent, five cent, dime, twenty cent, quarter dollar, half dollar, dollar, two-and-a-half dollar, three dollar, four dollar, five dollar, ten dollar, twenty dollar, and fifty dollar.

5. How many presidents have appeared on US banknotes? Counting all the types listed in The Standard Catalogue of United States Paper Money I get ten: Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant, Garfield, Cleveland, and McKinley. This does not include fractional currency or broken bank notes nor the never issued $100,000 note with Wilson.

6. How many other people have been shown on banknotes? I get thirty-six, including five military officers, five cabinet members and one Indian chief. This total does not include the fractional notes which include at least one more general. Who were William Widom and Daniel Manning? They didn't even make it into the Dictionary of American Biography. In fact , the choice of portraits for nineteenth century bank notes would be an interesting study.

7. Living persons on US coins? Limited to US coinage we get Gov. T. W. Kilby of Alabama, Sen. Joseph Robinson of Arkansas and Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia.

8. Who were Robert Aitken, William Marks Simpson and Elizabeth Jones? Robert Aitken designed the Missouri commemorative half, William Marks Simpson designed the Antietam commemorative half and Elizabeth Jones designed the George Washington bicentennial half dollar.

9. Who contributed the most coin designs? We'll hold that one.

10. Total United States cent production?
1793-1857 154 million or about 1677 tons
1858-1909 1.892 billion or about 5884 tons
1909-1982 167.237 billion or 520 thousand tons
1983-1988 85 billion or about 225 thousand tons.
Where are they now? God only knows; the Mint doesn't.

11. How many states are represented by commemorative coins? Twenty-three: in the order of appearance in the Red Book: AL, NY, MD, AR, CA, CN, OH, SC, IL, DE, PA, HA, IA, VA, ME, MO, MA, RI, NC, GA, TX, VT, WS are represented in the first series of commorative coins. Hawaii was not a state at the time the Hawaii commemorative was struck. The recent commemorative series has involved Virginia (Mount Vernon), New York (Ellis Island) and California (Olympic Stadium) but no new states.

12. Longest running designs? At eighty-four years the Lincoln cent obverse easily outlived the Seated Liberty and is still going strong in spite of Diane Wolfe. The current quarter dollar reverse is now a sixty-one year old dud.

Most of these answers come from patient searches of standard references. Somebody ought to be able to come up with a better answer for at least one of these. Let us hear from you.

Has any country ever used the same designs on paper money for sixty years?
